

Welcome to a lunch colloquium for doctoral supervisors

Academic mentoring at SLU

- A humble attempt of a personal initiative to help others tread a stony path

November 15th 12:00-13:00

Come meet other supervisors and take part in an inspiring presentation and discussion. Free lunch will be provided (11.30-12.00) to those who register.

Professors and other PhD supervisors have traditionally played the important and valuable role of mentors. Could an independent mentorship be helpful to give doctoral students some orientation in day-to-day questions about research papers, conferences etc? First results indicate that there is a great need for such service, but also that a certain shyness and institutional hindrances/policies make only strong and open-minded individuals come forward and those who need this support most do not use it.
